Mr. Redeuill states that the rapidity of the movements in that section of country is wonderful that where A Redeuill, who, with his wife and that where two years ago was a barren desert, the whole country is now a vast expanse of waving grain and hay fields and pro-perity and contentment is seen on every hand among the growing population. A new town has sprung up named Sidney, and the surrounding country has over 400 inhabitants. Usual activity is witnessed at the head of the caual at present, a large force of men and teams being employed in running a portion of the canal on a higher level, by which it is hoped to get relief from the trouble that has been experienced in the past by the s nd working in and partially closing the canal. This work is being done by the new company who have recently taken charge of that valuable property, and as an additional result of the labor, fully 40,000 more acres of land will thus be brought under the canal and rendered succeptible of cultivation. Fruit growing is also receiving considerable attention by ranchers there, and the results so far demonstrate beyond doubt

Judge Finn, of the superior court of San Francisco, recently took occasion to reprimand an attorney for disrespect to a witness on the's and. Attorneys too often delude themselves with the belief that an exhibition of grossness and incivility, towards those who are so unfortunate as to be summoned to testify in court, is a commendable quality in the practice of their profession. So far from being so, it is simply a display of poltroonery. The position of a witness is one of extreme delicacy, and in most cases of painful obligation to duties imposed upon every citizen The custom, too prevalent, of trying to browbeat a witness operates to the udice in the minds of sensitive jurors, tion of justice. The purpose of examination is to elicit the truth, plain and unvarpished; and this cannot be done by any attempt to confuse or intimi-date a witness. An Unhappy Epleade. J. H. Brown and his wife were yes terday placed in the custody of Sheriff O'Neill, under a commitment issued by John Goodwin, justice of the peace for Upper Verde precinct. The parties were held each in the sum of $300 to keep the peace against the person of John R. Masterson for a period of three months. In default of the prescribed bail they are now detained in the county jail until they shall be legally discharged. Three of their children also accompanied them, one babe at the breast. Mr. Brown is the occupant of a house and a piece of land owned by Mr. Masterson, who demanded possession of it some time since. The demand was refused, Mr. Brown claiming the property as his own. He nailed up the doors and windows and every avenue of entrance, and when Masterson again appeared at the bouse for the purpose of ejecting him from the premises, Brown pre-sented a revolver and threatened his life. Upon this demonstration, a commitment was issued. J. C. Herndon, attorney for Mr. Brown, applied for a writ of habeas corpus, retu nable at 2 o'clock, for a hearing before Judge Wright. At the hour appointed, Mrs. Brown and her children appeared. She is a comely looking woman, who seemed to feel keenly the situation in which she was placed. They were all neatly appareled and refined in manner. Mr. Brown was absent, as the application for the writ did not include him. Prosecuting Attorney H. S. Ross declined to resist issuance of the writ, on the ground that Mrs. Brown was, he be-lieved illegally restrained of her liberty. Mrs. Brown's testimony was to the effect that she and her husband were living in a house rented from Master-son, and that he had forcibly entered h r home. She remonstrated, and asked him if he had broken open the door, which he admitted. Masterson keeps a saloon adjoining Brown's resi-dence. Mrs. Brown was nailing the door of her house, when Masterson again accosted her in an angry manner, wherepon she seized a revolver and warned him not to approach, or she would "put a hole through him." Judge Wright ruled that the complaint charged no offence under the statute, and if it did, that there were two distinct offences charged, and should have been brought a parately, and moreover that the evid nee was insufficient. She was then discharged.

"Brick" Pomeroy, at 234 Broadway, New York City, is now edititing and publishing the liveliest and most inter esting $1 a year publication ever printed in that city. His Ismous Saturday Night chapters; his Pen Pictures of London; his descriptions of the "places" of New York City, and his vivid chapters of Life Experience in La Crosse, during the war, are each worth more than the price of his paper, which bears the significant title of "Advance Thought." Pome oy is a 55 year old volume of National history, and now he is letting it out red hot.

The Von Graef Medical Company, No. 3 Park Row, New York City, in 1888, made 78 per cent. of cures of various diseases of men, chronic and otherwise, within the time allotted for Gaddis, David Grubb, John Clark, treatment.
